

This is violation of public trust. In UK licensure is dependant on fair representation of political parties. Media consolidation like any big buisness returns us to trhe middle ages of the robber barons -Since I work in government I expect the FCC to respond